PROFILE

I am an experienced podcast producer, audio engineer and coordinator. I've worked with HeadGum, Forever Dog, Earwolf, Awfully Nice, and Spotify in Los Angeles, Paradiso Media in Paris, and Somethin Else and Message Heard in London. With experience in non-fiction entertainment podcasts hosted by comedians and drag queens, as well as scripted narrative, game show format, and branded podcasts, I am the well-rounded producer you need on your team.

I am passionate about creating the highest quality audio entertainment around. My technical mastery of studio equipment and editing software, combined with a keen ability to make the best of both remote and field recordings, make me indispensable. My goal is to be the head of entertainment podcasts for a major network and I am well on my way towards achieving it. I have a knack for managing people and getting the best out of my employees. Wherever I work, I'm guaranteed to produce the best new podcasts around.

MY FAVORITE WORD

Syzygy

According to the Oxford Dictionary, a syzygy is an astronomical term for "a straight-line configuration of three or more celestial bodies in a gravitational system."

The word itself is composed of a syzygy of Ys. I like that - when something is comprised of its meaning. Almost like the act of being one's own intentions.
